Noble activity

Since September, the Mahi Shriners have spent weekends at Flamingo Road Nursery's Fall Festival, handing out our burn safety awareness coloring/activity books and lollipops, and spreading the word about what Shriners do. We had many volunteers show up, including: Bobby Brumfield, Robert Latimer, Alvaro Lourido, Alex Procter, Sean Thompson, Dallas Lewis, Byron Smith, and Lady Brenda; Victor Salcedo and Lady Noemi; Alex Diaz, Marques Gibson, Phil Eaton, and Aaron; Andrew Perez, Luis Garcia Jr Divya Khullar, and his daughter Gia; Ken Asburry Jr. and Lady Vicki; Dennis Asburry, and Lady Lisa. A big thank you to them.

Victor Salcedo

Know the Noble

Victor first became a Mason in 1994 and in 1997 became a Shriner at the Almalika Shrine Club in Los Angeles. As well as being a Mahi Shriner, he is also affiliated with the Metropolitan #352 lodge in California and Coral Gables Masonic Lodge #260. In his life, Victor has had many careers; he started as a civil engineer, worked in aerospace for a little while, joined the family business as a tamale maker, became a business owner, and later on became a real estate developer.

When he is not hanging around the shrine, he can be found in the kitchen either cooking or baking. When asked what his favorite part about being a Shriner is, he answered the brotherhood and camaraderie, and he spoke about how much he loves to volunteer at the hospitals. His favorite shrine memory is when he helped demolish and rebuild the old Almalika Shrine club with his brothers.
